Summary

I'm a creative coder and digital strategist passionate about making tech accessible and engaging. As the founder of Code Moft, I create tutorials, branding assets, and tools that simplify coding workflows for beginners and pros alike.

My expertise spans SEO (Google, YouTube, Facebook), front-end web design, and content optimization. I thrive on blending technical clarity with playful design, think neon aesthetics, real coder visuals, and meme-driven storytelling.

Let's connect if you're building something bold in tech or education.

My Approach:

I believe learning to code shouldn't feel like reading a manual. That's why I blend technical accuracy with visual storytelling, turning complex concepts into digestible, memorable content.

Let's connect if you're:

Building educational tech products
Looking for SEO expertise to grow your digital presence
Creating content for developers
Passionate about making tech education more accessible

As a passionate SEO enthusiast with experience in both Facebook and YouTube SEO, I am focused on helping brands boost their online visibility and engagement. My background in front-end web design equips me with the technical skills to create user-friendly, optimized websites that attract and retain visitors. I'm also experienced in event management, where I've developed strong project management, organization, and teamwork skills. With a growing knowledge of SEO tools and best practices, I'm eager to take on new challenges and continuously learn in the dynamic field of digital marketing. Whether it's optimizing content for search engines or building beautiful, responsive websites, I thrive on creating effective digital solutions that deliver results. Let's connect if you're looking for a dedicated professional with a versatile skill set in SEO, web design, and event management.
